The E. C. (Billy) Hayes N. C. A. A. Cross Country Memorial Trophy

At the National Collegiate Cross Country Coaches Association meeting held in Lansing, Michigan, on the 24th of November, 1944, the following resolution concerning the death of E. C. "Billy" Hayes was unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, the National Collegiate Cross Country Coaches Association, assembled for the Sixth National Collegiate Athletic Association Cross Country Championships, deeply feel the loss of E. C. "Billy" Hayes, one of the founders of the National Collegiate Athletic Association Cross Country Championships and the National Collegiate Cross Country Coaches Association; and whereas, his leadership and contribution to the physical, moral and mental fitness of American youth through his exemplary personal character and habits and his career as one of America's outstanding distance coaches, was universally recognized.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that Billy Hayes' contribution to this association and to each of us individually will always remain a challenge and an inspiration to all present and future members of the National Collegiate Cross Country Coaches Association.

"Be it further resolved, that this resolution, be entered in the minutes of this association and that copies be sent to the President of Indiana University, to the head of the Athletic Department of Indiana University, and to Mr. Hayes' family."

In line with the spirit of the above resolution it was thought by some of the coaches present that it would be a fitting and proper tribute to the memory of Billy Hayes if there were to be established some sort of Memorial Trophy to be presented each year to the team winning the National Collegiate Athletic Association Cross Country Championship.

Your president had in mind a graduate of Indiana University who he thought might be interested in contributing such a Memorial Trophy. Therefore, on November 30, 1944, as your president, I wrote to this gentleman, enclosing a copy of the above resolution, offering him the opportunity of contributing a suitable Memorial Trophy. By return mail, I received a letter saying, "Of course, I will be not only willing, but anxious to provide the trophy you have suggested. My plan would be to have our artisans design and execute an outstanding trophy, which will be kept in circulation as you have suggested, as an annual award to the team winning the National Collegiate Athletic Association Cross Country Championship. In addition, I will plan to supply a miniature trophy which can be held permanently."

Accordingly, Mr. L. G. Balfour of the L. G. Balfour Company, put his artisans to work planning and designing a trophy with the understanding that the trophy itself would be executed as soon as Government permission was granted. In short, the trophy you now see is the result of a few suggestions of mine, skillfully developed and produced by the artisans of the L. G. Balfour Company.

I had hoped that Mr. Balfour could personally present the trophy at this year's meet, but urgent business makes it impossible for him to be here for this event. When asked if he would write a few lines for the program he insisted that he would rather not because someone might interpret it as advertising for the L. G. Balfour Company. He wishes it understood that this trophy is his personal contribution to the National Collegiate Cross Country Coaches Association to help in perpetuating the memory of his friend and our friend and former colleague, E. C. "Billy" Hayes.

Thanks to you, Mr. Balfour, from every member of our Association for your kindness and generosity in helping us to do honor to a real gentleman and a great coach.

E. C. "Billy" HAYES

By K. L. WILSON

Chairman N. C. A. A. Track and Field Committee

Intercollegiate athletics lost one of their most valued friends on December 16, 1943, when E. C. "Billy" Hayes, for twenty years the track coach at Indiana University, passed away. His untimely death is mourned by the thousands of loyal track fans throughout the nation who regarded him as the all time great in the coaching profession.

To several hundred of his boys scattered throughout the world, his death came as a real tragedy. To them, he was more than a coach. "Mister" Hayes, as they affectionately called him, was a true friend who commanded their respect and love as a man years after their graduation. It was his custom to keep in close touch with them, giving them the wisdom of his long years of experience.

Major Charles Hornbostel, one of the greatest runners produced by Hayes, summed up their respect and love as a man in a telegram soon after the coach's death, saying, "We have all lost a very close friend."

"Billy" Hayes was born near Madison, Indiana, December 21, 1883. He graduated from Albion College in Michigan where he won letters in football, basketball and track. After two years of coaching at Jackson High School in Michigan, he became head basketball and track coach at Mississippi State College. The impact of his coaching was felt immediately, as his team won two Southern championships, with four of his athletes winning places on the 1924 Olympic team.

It was at Indiana University that he achieved the success that won him the title of "Builder of Champions." He demonstrated uncanny ability to produce champions out of little-known and some little-adept boys.

In his nineteen years as track coach, he achieved these records—two Big-Ten Outdoor Championships, three Big-Ten Indoor Championships, eight Big-Ten Cross Country Championships, one National Collegiate Championship in Outdoor Track, and two National Collegiate Cross Country titles. In addition, his teams were runners-up in Big-Ten Outdoor Championships five times and three times in Big-Ten Indoor Championships.

The list of men he developed is an illustrious one, including many American Olympic stars. Charles Hornbostel and Ivan Fuqua were on the 1932 team, with Hornbostel, Dan Lash and Tommy Deckard on the 1936 team.

In addition to those named to Olympic teams, the list includes: Mel Trutt, Roy Cochran, Campbell Kane, and Archie Harris—all of whom set Big-Ten National Collegiate or world records; Bob Cain, Big-Ten half-mile champion; Lowell Todd, decathlon performer; Eddie Clapham, Rodney Leas, and Henry Brocksmith, all star distance runners; Jim Hatfield and Dan Caldemeyer, hurdlers; Malcolm Hicks, quarter-miler; Roger Pooerman and Wilmer Rinehart, javelin thrower; Charles Benzel, Nobel Biddinger, Robert Rose, J. Clifford Watson, Earl Mitchell, Freddie Wilt, and Jimmy Smith.

Mr. Hayes was proud of all of his men, but particularly so of Lash, Deckard, Smith and Trutt, whose picture standing arm in arm occupied a prominent place in his office in the University gymnasium.

"That's a remarkable crew for one school," he often said.

"Together they averaged a 4:12 mile and a 9-minute two-mile. You may not find four like them at the same time again soon in one school."

Outside of the material things—the roomful of trophies his individual men and teams won for Indiana, the reams of publicity that he provided for Indiana by making it the "tops" in track athletics—"Billy" Hayes left behind him many more intangible objects. The reverence of his "boys," and the respect and admiration of the entire sports world were things that "Billy" Hayes commanded through the very way he lived his life.

The respect he won from his opponents was aptly stated by Dr. Frank R. Castleman, veteran track coach at Ohio State, who said, "Only now and then does a great coach rise above all others in the respect of rival coaches. Such a man was 'Billy.'"

TEAM SCORING: The first runner to finish counts 1 point; the second, 2; the third, 3; and so on. The team which scores the smallest total of points shall be the winner. In case the total points scored by two or more teams result in a tie, the event shall be called a tie.

No more than seven contestants from each college actually participate. Five contestants must finish to give a college a team score. Individuals who do not represent a scoring team forfeit their scoring positions when the team score of the other runners is being determined. Only the first five representatives of any college to finish will count in the team score but the sixth and seventh runners, although not scoring points toward their own team's score, hold their places and thereby serve to increase the team score of any opposing team if their places are better than those of any of the first five runners of the opposing team.
