A BIT OF HISTORY

This little brochure is a combined program of two functions: The National Collegiate Athletic Association Cross Country Championships and the annual meeting of the National Collegiate Cross Country Coaches Association. It is fitting, therefore, that a bit of space be allotted to history of both organizations.

In 1926 the Central Intercollegiate Conference held its first Cross Country Championships right here at Michigan State College. This meet proved to be a popular event so Michigan State College continued to sponsor it year after year. In the early thirties the C.I.C. changed its name to Central Collegiate Conference, and welcomed participation of college Cross Country teams from all over the midwest.

As the event grew in size Michigan State College officials in charge of the meet started the practice of holding, on the night before the championship race, a dinner for the coaches of the visiting teams. At one of these dinner meetings a roll call of institutions represented disclosed the fact that the C.C.C. meet had become more than just a sectional affair—it was almost national in its appeal to Cross Country competition. The idea of having a Cross Country meet of truly national character was conceived that night. Within six months an announcement of the First National Collegiate Athletic Association Cross Country Championships, under the sponsorship of Michigan State College, was formally released. Tomorrow's meet will be the Tenth Annual N.C.A.A. Cross Country Championships.

That there was a need for such a meet was established the very first year. Alfred University and Pennsylvania State College were represented, so the meet immediately got off to a good start as an intersectional event. As the years passed, more and more teams came until at the Ninth Annual Meeting there were representatives from virtually every one of the important athletic conferences in the U.S. which support Cross Country competition. Geographically the meet attracted runners from the Atlantic coast, the Pacific coast, and both the Canadian and Mexican borders. It is significant that this growth has been achieved in less than ten years of meet competition.

Just as the idea for a national meet grew out of the pre-meet dinners, so grew the idea that there was need for an association of Cross Country coaches. The dinner which preceeded the First Annual N.C.A.A. meet was the occasion of the creation of such an organization. It had precedent in the National Collegiate Track Coaches Association which was an outgrowth of coaches meetings at the N.C.A.A. Track and Field Championships each spring, so it was only natural that a name was adopted in line with that of the older organization. Annual meetings have preceeded the N.C.A.A. Cross Country meet each year so tonight's meeting marks the tenth anniversary of the formation of the National Collegiate Cross Country Coaches' Association. Officers for the current year are: Elvin R. Handy, Notre Dame, President; Carl Olson, University of Pittsburgh, Vice President; Lauren P. Brown, Michigan State College, Secretary; Michael J. Ryan, University of Wyoming, Treasurer.

The
E. C. "Billy" Hayes
N. C. A. A.
Cross Country
Memorial Trophy

Any who are familiar with the history of Cross Country running in the United States will know, without benefit of this short resume, of the contribution to the sport of the late E. C. "Billy" Hayes. But it is inevitable that there will be those, not only among the spectators but among the contestants themselves, who are not familiar with the work of this man. His proteges were famous, and there has not been an Olympic Championship since World War I that a Hayes-coached runner hasn't ably represented the U.S.A. Billy, himself, was an Olympic coach in 1932 and in 1936, handling the distance runners.

Billy Hayes was one of the founders of the N.C.A.A. Cross Country Championships, and also of the National Collegiate Cross Country Coaches Association. He was president of the N.C.C.C.A. in 1939. After a lifetime of coaching, nearly twenty years of which were spent at Indiana University where he met with his greatest success as one of America's most effective developers of distance runners, Billy died on December 13, 1943.

To help perpetuate the memory of Billy Hayes, a handsome trophy was donated by his good friend, L. G. Balfour of Attleboro, Massachusetts, an alumnus of Indiana University. In 1945 Mr. Balfour placed his trophy in the custody of the N.C.C.C.A. with the understanding that it be presented each year to the winner of the team championship at the N.C.A.A. Cross Country Championships. The institution whose team wins the championship has the right to retain the trophy for display on its campus for a limited period, after which the trophy is returned to the Secretary of the N.C.C.C.A. to have the names of the winning team members, along with that of their coach, engraved on the base of the trophy. Although the winning team each year must relinquish the Memorial Trophy in due time to its successor, it receives from Mr. Balfour a replica of the Trophy as a permanent possession.

PHOTOTIMER

The Phototimer equipment at the finish line is provided through the courtesy of Daniels Jewelry Store of Lansing and the Bulova Watch Company, Fifth Avenue, New York City.

The Bulova Phototimer reduces to a minimum the possibility of errors of human judgement in timing and placing runners at the finish. The Phototimer accomplishes this by photographing not only the runner himself as he crosses the finish line but also his elapsed time at that instant. One of the most valuable features of the equipment is that it can, when required, produce a photographic enlargement for examination by officials in less than 90 seconds after the conclusion of any close race.

The meet management wishes to thank the sponsors of the equipment for this service which proved its value when used at the National Collegiate Athletic Association Track and Field Championships last June and at the final trials for selection of the U. S. Olympic Team two weeks later.

PROGRESS OF RACE

As the contestants pass by each half mile post out on the course, the time and positions of the runners in the lead will be flashed to your announcer on the Public Address system.

This service is by courtesy of the Military Department, and is sponsored by Pi Tau Pi Sigma, National Honorary Signal Corps Fraternity. The equipment used is U. S. Signal Corps Radio, Model 300.

The honor of winning this distinction the first two years in which the trophy was competed for went to Drake University of Des Moines, Iowa. Last year a strong team from Pennsylvania State College succeeded in breaking Drake's three-year championship string.

In appreciation of his contribution to Cross Country, the National Collegiate Cross Country Coaches Association at its 1947 meeting by unanimous vote recommended that Mr. Balfour shall be named as Honorary Referee for all future National Collegiate Cross Country Championships during his lifetime.

COLLEGE	NUMBER RANGE	FIRST MAN'S PLACE	SECOND MAN'S PLACE	THIRD MAN'S PLACE	FOURTH MAN'S PLACE	FIFTH MAN'S PLACE	These Two Places Not Included In Determining Team Score		TOTAL TEAM SCORE
							Sixth Man's Place	Seventh Man's Place

TEAM SCORING: N.C.A.A. rules on the scoring of Cross Country runs will be followed.

No more than seven contestants from each college actually participate.

Five contestants must finish to give a college a team score.

In determining team score, the winning runner counts 1 point; second place, 2 points; third place, 3 points; and so on. Individuals who do not represent a scoring team forfeit their scoring positions when the team score of the other runners is being determined.

Only the first five representatives of any college to finish shall count in the team score but the sixth and seventh runners, although not scoring points toward their own team's total, hold their places and, if these places are better than those of any of the first five runners of an opposing team, serve thereby to increase the score of the opponent.

The team which scores the smallest total of points shall be the winner.

In case the total points scored by two or more teams shall result in a tie, the event shall be called a tie.
